

IAT Journal

Animal Technology and Welfare

ATW The Official Publication of The Institute of Animal Technology (IAT) and European Federation of Animal Technologists (EFAT)

WILL BE PERMANENTLY FREE FOR EVERYONE TO READ AND DOWNLOAD IN 2020

The implementation complies with Plan S, the multi-funder effort to ensure immediate open access to scientific publications

ATW publishes peer-reviewed articles allied to animal science and technology, management and education

Particular encouragement is given to authors submitting papers promoting the 3Rs leading to improvements in environmental enrichment and the care and welfare of genetically altered animals

ATW facilitates the Marjorie (Sandiford) Whittingham Memorial Prize awarded annually to the author of the best original peer-reviewed paper

ATW publishes technical notes describing new products, new or refined techniques and new developments

ATW publishes papers and posters presented at international meetings, opinion articles, book reviews and relevant texts

ATW promotes the dissemination of 'good practice'

ATW promotes the recognition of Animal Technologists everywhere

NO fees are charged to authors for publishing in ATW. Instructions to authors appear on the website.

Editor: Jasmine Barley MSc FIAT RAnTech
Email: atweditor@iat.org.uk

ATW PROFILE

ATW aims to be the medium for Animal Technologists and all those concerned with the care and welfare of animals used for research purposes to communicate 'good practice'.

ATW especially aims to promote and develop the 3Rs particularly in respect of Refinement. More importantly, ATW promotes the generally accepted 4th R, Responsibility. The responsibility that all Animal Technologists have in ensuring dissemination of 'good practice' to every institution using animals in research.

ATW enjoys a unique position as the scientific publication for the leading organisations for the welfare of animals used in research.